Where an organization is not wholly or majority owned, exceptions may apply.

Yes No Is this policy applicable to Providence Global Center (PGC) caregivers?

This is a governance level policy, vetted by Executive Council with a recommendation for approval by the Providence Board, and signed by the appropriate delegate.

Purpose:

The purpose of this policy is to ensure standardization and integration of system-wide community benefit efforts that includes community benefit initiatives and programs not covered by the Providence Financial Assistance Policy (PSJH-MISS-100). The policy enables each ministry to accurately and appropriately plan, design, implement, evaluate and report community benefit in accordance with the Providence Mission, values and promise, federal (including: IRS Form 990, Schedule H and 501r) and state legal mandates and to demonstrate the value of our tax-exempt status.

Furthermore, this policy affirms Providence’s commitment to provide services and programs for those who experience difficulty in accessing health and social services to obtain optimal health by working collaboratively with others in the community to address specific community health needs.

Definitions:

1. Community benefit includes:
 - a. Charity care - Financial Assistance - at cost (Free (charity) and discounted care))
 - b. Unpaid costs of government sponsored indigent healthcare programs:
 - Medicaid
 - State child health insurance programs (SCHIP)
 - Other local government means-tested programs
 - c. Other Community Benefits at Cost
 - Community Health Improvement Services
 - Community Benefit Operations
 - Health Professions Education
 - Subsidized Health Services
 - Research
 - Cash and In-Kind Contributions for Community Benefit
 - Community Building will be reported, but it is not considered Community Benefit at the federal level for IRS Form 990 Schedule H tax purposes
2. Community benefit does not include:
 - Bad debt
 - Contractual allowances
 - Any portion of charity care or Medicaid costs included in subsidized programs
 - Medicare shortfall, except for the Subsidized Health Services category
 - Programs provided for marketing purposes

Policy:

Providence follows IRS Form 990 Schedule H Instructions for federal reporting and follows the respective state reporting requirements. We also refer for guidance to the Catholic Health Association USA \(CHA-USA\) Guide for Planning and Reporting Community Benefit.

Providence distinguishes itself through service to and support for people whose social condition positions them at the margins of society and makes them vulnerable to discrimination: the economically poor and medically underserved. Providence provides services to the indigent, the uninsured and the underinsured, racial/ethnic minorities, immigrants and refugees, among other marginalized persons, in alignment with its Mission, values and promise and the Ethical and Religious Directives (ERDs) for Catholic Health Care Services. Community benefit programs are organized to address specific community health needs and improve the overall health of the community.

Requirements:

All community benefit programs are aligned with our Mission, values, and promise. It is expected that Providence community benefits programs will:

- a. Respond to identified health priorities determined in collaboration with community stakeholders based on community health needs assessment (CHNA) reports;
- b. Focus on serving the economically poor and the broader community, as appropriate;
- c. Be planned and implemented with an evidence-based approach, including an evaluation component in the Community Health Improvement Plan (CHIP) reports; and
- d. Follow standardized common reporting community benefit financial and program methodologies aligned with federal and state requirements.

The above requirements are administered by each Providence facility through local policy and guidelines. Local or regional policies on the same subject must be consistent with this policy in case of inconsistencies, this policy governs. Issues related to clarification of the requirements of this policy or discrepancies with this policy should be raised to the policy owner or contact for resolution.
